EXAMPLES OF ADVERTS

EAST PARK GATES
A play by John Ducker

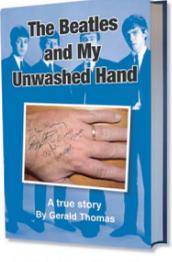

Jim Radford wakes up one day and decides that he wants to re-live his youth. He starts hanging about outside East Park gates again, with his friend James Hall. They soon find themselves chatting about the good old days, when they used to wish for somebody to invent mobile phones, computers, and other clever inventions. However, Jim soon stops hanging about East Park gates, when he starts being trolled by people on Twitter, accusing him of being a middle-aged weirdo for trying to re-live his youth. Fortunately, the irony isn't lost on Jim, who has the last laugh...

As a reward for finding your mug, I would like to keep it.

Silhouette Club
Reunion 2019

I am planning a reunion for former members of the old Silhouette club in 2019 (two years will give former punks and goths enough time to put on their make-up!).

Would anybody like to join my book club?

I am thinking about starting a book club. I live just off Hessle Road. I would like to begin the group by discussing my own book of short stories, then my 6-part autobiography, before moving on to my diaries, which are hilarious. If you are interested, Telephone me. Henry (Priestman) 78923. I won't mention the fact that I'm writing a novel, and a play too!

Grandways
Low prices right on your doorstep.

On Sat' 5th May 1979, meet Mr Pricelow at our Holderness Road supermarket.

Mr Pricelow, our loveable pencil mascot, will be giving away free pencils to children, and teaching dads not to look so sodding miserable when they're shopping with their wives.

Mr Pricelow will also be lecturing people who tut whilst standing in checkout queues, and giving a right earful to moaning minies who complain about our very competitive prices.

Remember, bring your family and friends, and have a day that you'll forget.

Grandways Supermarket, 262-264 Holderness Road, Hull.

I have a very powerful Hoover Constellation vacuum cleaner for sale. I bought it from Hammonds; however, the receipt is inside the hoover, as I sucked it up the other day. There is also a cat inside the hoover, a mat and three wigs. Please call round to Number Seven, Beverley Rd, Hull. Ask for Mrs Heaton.

HUMBER BRIDGE REFRESHER COURSE

If you live in Hull, and have stopped appreciating the Humber Bridge, then you will be eligible to apply for a place on our one-week Humber Bridge Refresher Course, designed to help rediscover your interest in the Humber Bridge.

CORE OBJECTIVES OF THE COURSE:

- To remind students what the Humber Bridge looks like
- How to appreciate its aesthetic qualities
- Which power adjectives to use when describing the Humber Bridge
- How to remain enthusiastic about the Humber Bridge

There will also be an outing to the bridge, where we will engage in role playing (imagining ourselves as enthusiastic tourists). A genuine tourist kit will be available for hire at £10 per hour - approximate length of outing is 16 hours.

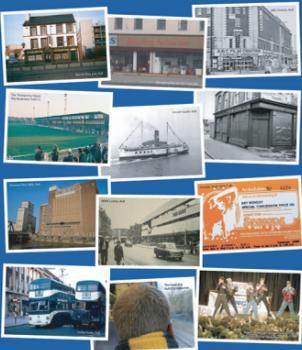

Please apply in writing to course leader, Polly Kiersten MA pollykiersten@yahoo.co.uk

I found a black bicycle outside Trog Bar on George Street about a week ago. Here is a drawing of the bicycle.

If it was yours, I apologise for throwing it in the drain. I was in a bad mood. Reece.

ANDY ROE (exhibiting as Preston Likely) Shop Installation, Unit 5, Whitefriargate, Hull. First stage sign-off phase

At this juncture in time, I have created all of my Hull-related shop window advertisements and am now in the process of buying some of the objects that appear in my adverts; objects that will appear inside the shop on a shelf, which will be clearly visible through the left-hand side angled window. Displaying the objects on the shelf will add another layer to the piece, and may lead onlookers to believe that some of the advertisements are actually real.

The adverts themselves, as I've previously mentioned, reference a number of cultural events that have occurred in Hull during the last 70 years. Some of the other adverts feature certain landmarks, such as pubs, parks and buildings that many people still feel fondly about. And the remainder of the advertisements are fairly general, celebrating Hull's wonderfully self-deprecating and witty sense of Humour. It's worth noting that I've only used the names of shops, pubs and clubs that no longer exist.

I am still planning to have somebody present outside my shop installation during the first night (1st January), pretending to clean the windows and sweep the pavement in order to attract the attention of people walking by. I have asked a friend if he would like to be present at my installation on the 1st January, and he said he would be more than pleased to assist me. I also want him to hand out flyers, which will aim to advertise the existence of the shop (the flyer I am creating will be humorous, and merely serve as a way of drawing attention to the installation).

I will be coming up to Hull on the 20/21st December to be at the shop in order to fit all of the elements that I've created.
